Pueblos Mágicos

People from abroad and natives may ask themselves "How can a town somewhere within our country may be considered magical?" Well, that is because the Tourism branch of government gives this title to the different towns that "...Through time and before modernity, had retained their value and cultural heritage".

Tips for Expats

Rainy Season in Mexico City

Those of us who live in the Capital City of the Mexican Republic have great benefits because we have privileged weather, but when it rains we must take certain precautions. Mornings can be very sunny, but beware because it will probably rain heavily during the evening or at night, so make sure to carry an umbrella, raincoat, and comfortable shoes.

Getaway of the Month

Metepec

Among the great activity Toluca has to offer, there is Metepec. This place is just a few kilometers away from Capital State. From the moment you arrive, you can admire the new suburbs that had been built, modern shopping malls, colleges, wide green areas and even a golf course. As you approach Downtown, you can feel the cozy atmosphere.
